* Board of Professors.

CONSTITUTION

The Royal College of Music was founded under the Presidency of His late Majesty King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales, and was incorporated by Royal Charter in 1883. The Corporation of the College consists of the President, Vice-Presidents, Council, Director, Board of Professors, Graduates and Donors. The Governing Body is the President and Council, who delegate to the Executive and Finance Committee the general management of the College and the control of its Funds. Annual subscribers of ten pounds and upwards, or contributors of fifty pounds and upwards, become Donors of the College. Annual subscribers of one guinea and upwards are kept informed of the dates of Concerts and Operas.

THE BUILDING

The College building was a gift of the late Mr. Samson Fox, M.I.C.E. The site was granted by the Royal Commissioners of the Exhibition of 1851, and is held at a nominal ground rent for 999 years. The Inner Entrance Hall was added by the late Lord Palmer of Reading in 1927. There is a large Concert Hall, the organ in which was given to the College by the late Sir Hubert Parry, Director from 1895 to 1918. It has been rebuilt in 1958. The Parry Theatre is the Council Memorial to Sir Hubert Parry. Two Common Rooms for students were equipped in 1922 by the late Mr. R. F. McEwen. In 1939 the retiring and dressing rooms were renovated, a cafeteria for students, a dining room for professors and some practising rooms were added, and the garden was planted. In 1955 a new heating system for the Concert Hall and Theatre was completed.

The Library contains many historical scores, books and a few manuscripts as well as a large working repertory of modern editions. The other manuscripts (about four thousand of them) are now on permanent loan to, and housed in the British Museum. There is a valuable collection of old instruments, of which the greater part was the bequest of the late Sir George Donaldson. There are also other instruments which have been bequeathed from time to time or acquired for the use of students during their time at College. The late Colonel Lionel Benson has left his extensive collection of portraits and music to the College. The late Mr. Arthur Hill gave the portraits in oils which are hung in the Concert Hall.

ADMINISTRATION

The Registrar supervises the arrangement of students' lessons, lectures, examinations, scholarships and concerted work. The Bursar deals with financial and office administration. The Lady Superintendent is concerned with the health and hygiene of students, the supervision of the domestic staff, the recommendation of lodgings and kindred matters.

CALENDAR

There are three terms as follows : Christmas Term, September to December. Easter Term, January to April ; Summer Term, May to July ; The College year begins in September. Students are not admitted for less than one year.

DEGREES AND DIPLOMAS

The Council has power, under the Charter, to confer the Degrees of Bachelor in Music, Master in Music, and Doctor in Music, either after examination or Honoris Causa. The Degree of Master in Music (M.Mus R.C.M.) is conferred by examination, and is also open to external students.

There are two Diplomas by Examination : Associates (A.R.C.M.) and Graduates of the Royal Schools of Music, London (G.R.S.M.). The A.R.C.M. is also open to external students. Each of the above examinations has a separate syllabus.

Honorary Fellows (F.R.C.M.), Honorary Members (Hon. R.C.M.) and Honorary Associates (Hon. A.R.C.M.) are elected by the Council for services to music and to the College.

CURRICULUM

It is the policy of the College to make students' timetables as varied and flexible as possible so as to meet the special needs of each individual. It is usual for students to take two practical subjects, in addition to theoretical work and various classes. Over and above this, any study requiring individual tuition would involve an extra fee (see next page). Full-course students are given two or three individual lessons each week, and these may be divided between their principal subjects and include theoretical work.

Full-course fee covers :

- (a) Individual lessons in any two of the following :
Pianoforte solo, Pianoforte accompaniment, Organ, Singing, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Double Bass, Harp and any orchestral wind instruments.
- (b) Theory of Music :
for beginners—classes in General Training (including ear training).
for those more advanced—individual instruction covering Harmony, Counterpoint, Fugue, Analysis, Orchestration and Composition.
- (c) Conducting : available for a few senior students who have proved their proficiency in piano playing, theory and score-reading.
- (d) History, Criticism and Essay writing : for those who can show they can take full advantage of such individual training.
- (e) Opera (including Drama) : for senior singing students only who have been selected for this training.

- (f) Ensemble coaching (vocal and instrumental) : for senior students only.
- (g) G.R.S.M. training.

Given by the College (without charge at present) :

- (a) Organists attend a class in choir training.
- (b) Choral singing for selected students.
- (c) History lectures and lectures on General Aesthetics.
- (d) Wind repertory class.
- (e) Two full symphony orchestras and one opera orchestra.
- (f) Classes in Appreciation.

All practical studies, and certain theoretical subjects, are examined and graded periodically. There are five grades, Grade V being the highest. Certain subjects—Composition, Conducting, and Ensemble-playing are examples—are for students who have reached an appropriate theoretical or practical grade. A student who gains the A.R.C.M. (Performers') Diploma passes at once into Grade IV in the subject taken. Students in Grade V are exempt from further examination except for prizes and special awards.

There are several Orchestral Concerts each term, and one Choral Concert. There are also regular Chamber Concerts and Students' Recitals. Students qualified to perform at concerts are recommended by their professors, and their items are included in concert programmes as far as possible.

The Opera Class and its Dramatic Training Class give frequent performances in the theatre, both of complete works and selected scenes. Students and friends may attend these, and the concerts above, so far as accommodation permits. Admission is free to all performances but tickets are sometimes required. Students also have opportunities of attending concerts outside the College, by the generosity of managers and other gifts of tickets.

FEES—(1959-60)

The Entrance Examination Fee is £2 2s. and must be sent with the form of application.

The full-course fee is £30 per term, payable in advance. Students who leave during a term are liable to pay the full fees for that term.

Extra fees : For one hour's extra lesson per week, £18 18s. 0d. per term, with other periods in proportion.

Students who have completed not less than three years may, if the Director approves, take a reduced course at £18 18s. 0d. per term.

From September, 1960, the fees for those taking the 2nd and 3rd year of the G.R.S.M. training will be increased from £30 to £42 per term.

(The Council reserves the right to change the fees at the beginning of an academic year after due notice has been given).

GENERAL REGULATIONS

Students must possess the physical and educational qualifications necessary for the studies they intend to pursue. They must give satisfactory references and undertake to attend the College for at least one year of three terms. They must pay the entrance and tuition fees as they become due.

The choice of professors rests absolutely with the Director, but students may express a preference if there are special reasons for it.

Annual reports are sent in July to parents, guardians and local Education Authorities, etc. Grave misconduct or unsatisfactory progress renders the student liable to dismissal.

No student may be absent from studies without the Director's permission. Sickness for more than three consecutive days must be endorsed by a medical certificate.

No student may take part in a public performance, or accept professional employment, or publish a composition, without the Director's written permission.

ENDOWMENTS

By the generosity of the Founders of the College, and by many subsequent bequests, the College is endowed with a large number of Scholarships and Exhibitions, which may be awarded either by competition or by nomination. All awards are subject to the approval of the Director and are governed by the general regulations which apply to all students. There are also permanent Funds for certain special purposes.
